MYSTIC VOICES.

BY GAURES.

They tell us that silence is vocal. If we only listen well. List to the low, whispering voices in woodland and copse and dell.

They are telling the old, old story That the heart is a lonely vessel. If we listen with quickened pulses It will never more grow old.

The trees on the hillside are mourning For their hearts are growing cold; Low in the dust by the roadside, Lie their crowns of burnished gold.

The chilling north wind is sobbing Through summer's shattered nests, The pulse of the year is throbbing With a spirit of sad unrest.

A lone bird to its nest is calling From the view on the garden wall, They have come with the glow of the summer.

They return not her plaintive call. There comes a song of the victor, At the heart's aolian wire; In the garden the reglators, Wear their yellow crowns no more.

For a child came in the night's silence, And withered each velvet leaf; The frost spirit came in the dawn, And filled all their hearts with grief.

We bury our loves 'neath the snow drifts, Low down in the damp and cold; They will wake again in the morning, When spring opens her gates of gold.

The clouds gather low 'neath the mountains, Silently dropping their tears, The stars in their shrouds fold the curtains, For autumn's last days are near.

Briefly.

—The trolley on the Evansville cut-off is being put in place rapidly.

—E. B. Heimert is in Milwaukee attending a meeting of the Wisconsin Board of Pharmacy.

—Classes in chemistry, geology and physics, keep the high school thoroughly stirred up now-a-days.

—Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, assemble in regular weekly session this evening at Castle hall.

—Janesville City Lodge No. 90, I. O. E. C. occupy Odd Fellows hall this evening—regular weekly meeting.

—A baby boy has come into the home of A. D. Nott, of the first ward, and from all appearances, he has not failed to bring joy with him.

—The wheels of progress are slowly moving along. A new crossing is being laid between the First National bank and Truist & Peterson's.

—James Murray, the burglar, came up before Judge Patten this afternoon and was sentenced to the penitentiary for four years and six months.

—Mr. Geo. Wall, the driver of the No. 2 horse carriage, had his ankle badly sprained in the accident yesterday, by the opening of the horse carriage.

—The case of Ames against Gleason which was to have been tried before Judge Bennett has been taken to Walworth county on a change of venue.

—"Bible geography" was the subject chosen by Mrs. Stacy last evening. It was a subject that covered much interesting information and her audience was a very good sized one.

—At the home of Professor O. B. Keyes in the fourth ward, last evening, the high school class of '91 held its first meeting which was one of a series to be kept up during the winter.

—The case of the state against Dixon, an assault and battery matter from out of the city is on trial before Judge Patten to-day. The difficulty grew out of a dispute at the polls on election day.

—Agent Croft, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road has received a despatch from headquarters asking how many laborers willing to take places in the Chicago stock yards he can find.

—A man belonging to Samuel Best, derson, the butcher, fell on the Court Street bridge this morning and broke one of his fore legs. The injury was such a severe one that it was thought best to shoot the suffering animal and put her out of misery.

—It may seem strange, but is true nevertheless, that Madison, with a population claimed to be considerably larger than that of Janesville, has two hundred less pupils in her public schools. The intellectualty of Wisconsin's capital must be departing.

—The funeral services of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Church was held this afternoon from the family residence. The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph Waite and at the close the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for interment.

—That was a logical third ward youngster who inquired of his mother as they passed two almond-eyed laundrymen "Would they break if you dropped them?" His experience with China dolls had led him to associate the same little qualities with everything bearing the name.

—Mr. Lewis Trumble, of hose company No. 2, who was severely injured in the right hip by the overturning of the hose carriage yesterday noon, is resting quite easy to-day, and his injuries are not as serious as at first indicated. He will be all right in a few days. The other members who were upon the carriage at the time of the accident are around, feeling more or less sore on account of the sudden fall.

—When the Catholic fair opened in the Grand Army last evening, the scene was a bright and attractive one. Stretched the full length of the room were tables laden with jewelry, porcelain, specimens of embroidery and other fancy articles while the hum of voices from the young people gathered was drowned by sweet strains of music. The first night of the fair was a complete success and this success seems likely to follow during the entire week.

—"I feel just as if I could go to sleep and sleep a month" was the unexpected reply received by one of our most popular young men the other night, when he, not knowing anything else to say, had inquired for the fifth time after the condition of his adored one's health. Then there was deepened silence broken only by the musical tinkle of the alarm clock as it rang for an encore, and the young man's hurried foot steps died away in the distance.

OBITUARY.

MRS. FRANCES J. VAN SYKLEN.

After many months of intense suffering and patient waiting, death came as a welcome messenger, and at twenty-five minutes before six last evening, the soul of Mrs. Frances Van Syklen went home to God. Mrs. Van Syklen was born in New York City in the early spring of 1838. In 1858 she was married to Mr. James Van Syklen. Three children crowned their married life, adding joy to the happy home mingled with deep sorrow, for two of them died in early life, and were buried on Long Island, where the family resided for a number of years. In the autumn of 1874, Mr. and Mrs. Van Syklen came to Janesville, where they have since resided. For thirty-five years Mrs. Van Syklen was an active, earnest Christian, her early training in the Dutch Reformed church with which she was identified developed a pure and spotless character, which she ever cherished as a priceless jewel. On coming to Janesville she found a church home with her husband in the Court Street Methodist church, and was soon recognized, not only as a professor, but as a possessor of many christian graces. She combined tact and rare common sense with a strong and vigorous christian character, possessing the ability and willingness to work, and a devotion to the cause which served as a constant inspiration.

For a number of years she had been afflicted with a cancer, which destroyed the sight of one eye, and finally the eye itself was removed. All that surgical skill could accomplish was done for her relief, but with such painful operation it became more and more apparent that "Death at farthest could not be far." Fully conscious of this grave and solemn fact, she exhibited a spirit of cheerfulness and resignation, showing that her soul was indeed "stayed on God." She planned and worked for the good of all about her, with all her waning strength and when the shadow of the valley of death encompassed her she waited patiently and trusting for her Lord to come.

As with mother she will be sadly missed in the home to which she contributed so much of joy and sunshine. As a church worker and especially in the Sunday school where her influence was so helpful, her death will be keenly mourned. She will be missed and mourned in all her accustomed walks of life. For a good woman's life work is done. These clusters about the memory of such a life the glad and comforting thought that "he hath done what she could" to make the world better and to emulate the character of the Divine Master in whom she trusted.

Sympathy will be freely extended to the bereaved husband and daughter in the dark hour of mourning.

The funeral will occur at the home on Milton avenue to-morrow, Wednesday, at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. W. Wilcox, of Oshkosh, last pastor of Court Street church, officiating.

A Perfect Baking Powder.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill attained by a twenty years' practical experience are concentrated towards this end and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and value is known in combination with its ingredients, is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the material used or of the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As soon as the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform, it is packed in its cans by every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The government chemists, after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness, and those words of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

Broadhead.

—The first snow of the season fell last Saturday.

—The people of Broadhead were aroused by the alarm of fire about 10 o'clock Monday morning and turning out found the barn belonging to Mr. Warren Gardner, just back of his residence to be in flames.

The bare and its contents of considerable value were burned to the ground. It was clearly the work of an incendiary, as have been most of the fires here for the past year, and unless some effort is made to detect and punish the offender or offenders, Broadhead will probably suffer serious damage sometimes from just such a cause.

—Mrs. Paul O. Derrick, of Janesville, is visiting her parents in this place. Mr. Derrick spent Sunday here, returning Monday morning, but Mrs. Derrick will remain some time longer.

—Mr. E. Bowen went to Janesville, Monday, from whence he expected to go to Chicago to spend a few days.

—Mr. O. H. Morehouse, of San Antonio, Texas, arrived in Broadhead last week, joining Mrs. Morehouse, who has been visiting here for several weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thompson returned from the Black Hills, Dakota, last Saturday evening. Mr. Thompson has been placed on the board of directors of the Black Hills National Park.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. O. Clinton and Mrs. Jas. Campbell, of Chicago, spent Sunday in this place.

Victor Carlson, of Elk Creek, Piquette county, routed a gun in sport, at a group of girls, when it was discharged, and Miss Wahlgren fell, struck in the side of the head by a number of shot. Emerald Grove.

—The friends of W. D. McGregor will be pleased to learn that he has accepted the principalship of the Williamsburg school, near Milwaukee. We understand that he will teach at Bradford this winter but the board of that district being made up of different "kinds" failed to pull well together. At his numerous meetings they found the seats too small to hold the large number of pupils.

McGregor, tired of waiting and fearing that some gentle December "breeze" might cause the "decision" part of the two to land on the wrong side, applied elsewhere and was immediately transferred to the above position. We are sorry for the children of the district but we all think he served the board well.

—Another fact added to the family circle of W. H. Redder, arriving in this week, is that he has accepted the position of a traveling salesman, and is going to the north and south, and is doing nicely under the care of Dr. Farr, our village physician.

—Among those of our citizens who are attending the 2nd Stock show at the fair grounds are Mr. and Mrs. David McLaughlin, Hon. and Mrs. Andrew Barless and John T. Barless, and several others will follow suit next week.

—Hastings is the place to buy anything in the way of underwear, gloves or mittens, at a low price and overhauled at hard time prices.

—Miss Hattie Eastman, who has been visiting relatives in St. Paul and Minneapolis, returned last week.

—There will be an oyster supper at the Beloit college, Wednesday evening of this week. All please come and have a good time.

—There will be a lecture at the M. E. church, Emerald Grove, Nov. 18th, at 7:30 p. m., given by Mrs. Samuel Haines, of St. Charles, Mo. It will be for the benefit of the choir. All are cordially invited to attend.

—Miss Sophia Humphrey, of Waterloo, has been spending a few days in this vicinity greeting old friends. She is the guest of Mrs. D. A. Cummings.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. Cheney attended the inauguration exercises of President Eaton, of Beloit college, last Thursday evening.

The Milton Cornet band will give a concert in the Congregational church of this place Monday evening, November 15. This concert will be first class in every respect, and nothing in the programme will offend anyone in the least, it being strictly of a "clean" character.

TOBACCO.

What has Been Done Here and Elsewhere.

A Quiet Week—Notes Upon the Situation.

SOME of the '95 leaf is now being taken down and as far as examined promises to be of very fine quality.

Smiles have been slow, although more or less of the old leaf is being taken up by manufacturers and jobbers.

Reports from Edgerton and Stoughton show about the same condition of affairs in their markets.

IN GENERAL.

The remarks made recently by the Gazette upon the subject of "farmers sorting" should be carefully considered by the growers of Rock county. At the same time they should remember not to cut too near the line when sorting, as has been suggested by one of the Pennsylvania papers, they may get a few less pounds but they will get a smaller price and will lose in the end. This is an all important matter and this is the time to bear it in mind. Whenever there is any doubt about the proper place of a leaf it should be put in the next class below. This course prevents a good deal of trouble and pays best in the end.

NEW YORK CITY.

The United States Tobacco Journal says of last week's transactions. "A lazy market with but few transactions is all that can be reported. The aggregate sales were about 1,000 cases about one half of which were 95 tobacco. The indications for a brisk trade during the balance of the year are excellent and a lively market will doubtless be reported."
